Commissioners Purchase
206.85 Acres 16 Miles
Down Loop Road.

The farm of Dr. W. P. Book, located about 16 miles down the valley on the north loop road, has been purchased by El Paso county for the new poor farm. The county commissioners' court, in special session Monday morning, passed an order authorizing the purchase of the tract, conditioned on a clear title being given.

The consideration was approximately $25,000. A total of 198.25 acres at $150 per acre and eight acres of mesa land, at $1 per acre, were involved in the deal.

With the exception of about 20 acres, all of the land has been in cultivation. The deal also includes the improvements, consisting of buildings, yards, machinery and stock. An order was also passed instructing the county surveyor and Frank Candelaria to survey the tract.

The court Saturday afternoon accepted the bid of J. M. Wright of Denver for the purchase of the $25,000 issue of road bonds, recently voted, conditioned on the filing of a certified check for $250. The bid was par and accrued interest.

MEXICANS ARE TO BE EXTERMINATED

Undesirable Refugees From Villa Territory Will be Run Out of City.

By an agreement between Mayor Tom Lea and Gen. John J. Pershing, all soldiers of Villa's command and other persons from Juarez who may be considered undesirable to the police, will be detained as soon as they cross the river and will be given six hours in which to leave the city.

This was announced Monday morning by Mayor Tom Lea and means that a close watch will be kept on all immigrants from Juarez and that every effort will be made to prevent El Paso from being flooded with undesirables will be made by the police. The city officials and police say that all honest refugees from Juarez will be given every consideration and that they come to this side.

But the police say they will not permit the great crowd of thieves, gamblers and desperate characters who have been following Villa's army to come to El Paso and continue their law breaking. They will be arrested as soon as they cross the river and will be given six hours in which to leave the city or return to Juarez.

Sunday night 27 were arrested on vagrancy charges. The majority of them being former Villa soldiers and undesirable characters from Juarez. The police say they have a great problem to handle here as the city is being overrun by thieves and it is feared that the law will be unable to control other infractions of the law will be committed before they can rid the city of these undesirables.

MORMON REPRESENTATIVE FAVORS VILLA GOVERNMENT

According to a statement given to The Herald by J. W. Menzies, a representative of the Mormon colony at Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, Mexican soldiers are not guilty of destroying farms or attempting to drive out residents in territory under Gen. Villa's control.

"The Villa men are kept under excellent discipline by their officers," Mr. Menzies asserted. "The people in our colony have no complaints to make against the army. Some of the soldiers have taken part of our stock, but we expect them to pay for it under the present conditions. In view of the circumstances brought about through warfare we are getting more favorable consideration. I have had no trouble with Villa men."

It came to El Paso last week on a business trip and will return home today. I am not apprehensive of the situation. There are 120 families in our colony and none of them have been disturbed."

RED CROSS AID MAY BE GIVEN DESTITUTE HORDES IN JUAREZ

American Red Cross agents in Washington have taken the first steps towards an official investigation into the situation in Juarez. United States special agent George C. Carothers, Sunday advised Washington of the arrival of some 2,000 to 4,000 camp followers of Villista soldiers in Juarez, out of Casas Grandes, and declared to be facing starvation.

The Juarez railroad yards are filled with a dilapidated assembly of poverty stricken humanity. Food is getting daily shorter in Juarez and only the barest of edible necessities are available. Begging is rampant and everywhere a tremendous impetus and everywhere in the border town are seen the effects of the terrible conditions at hand.

SOBERS GUARDS CITY OFFICIALS

Will Have Meetings all Over
City to Ascertain Needs
of the People.

Mayor Lea is contemplating a series of "sit-together" meetings with the voters in each precinct, for the purpose of learning at first hand the needs and desires of the people. When asked about the proposed conference, Mayor Lea admitted that such a plan was under consideration.

"I have had this idea in mind for a long time," he said. "It has always seemed a curious and foolish political custom to me which makes it imperative that each political faction should hold meetings in each district prior to election, but allows it to be optional with the successful candidates as to whether they shall ever visit their constituents. It is so important that the voters should be given an opportunity to meet the candidates, before election, that I am sure it will be equally desirable for them to have a chance to meet the officers holders afterwards. Personally, I want the citizens of El Paso to feel that I am anxious to meet them now, since they have chosen me as their chief executive, and I will be when I am seeking their votes."

DEFENDS ARIZONA LAW AS TO EMPLOYMENT OF ALIENS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—The present strike in the copper fields of Arizona was referred to in the supreme court by attorney general W. E. Clegg, in a brief filed Sunday. Clegg defended the Arizona statute requiring employers of more than five persons to employ at least 80 per cent Arizona citizens or qualified electors of some state of the union.

Mr. Jones told the court that the miners were largely aliens. "Conditions have arisen in this country," he said, "that call for a closer police of the situation which may disorder and danger to them."

Attorneys representing interests attacking the law, said that the reason of safety, health, moral or general welfare of the people justified a law which would also deprive of alien earnings living in Arizona.

Justice McReynolds suggested that the law not only put aliens in the excluded class, but also those who were naturalized, but not qualified electors.

EL PASO HERALD MEET THE TAXPAYERS

Will Have Meetings all Over
City to Ascertain Needs
of the People.

Mayor Lea is contemplating a series of "sit-together" meetings with the voters in each precinct, for the purpose of learning at first hand the needs and desires of the people. When asked about the proposed conference, Mayor Lea admitted that such a plan was under consideration.

"I have had this idea in mind for a long time," he said. "It has always seemed a curious and foolish political custom to me which makes it imperative that each political faction should hold meetings in each district prior to election, but allows it to be optional with the successful candidates as to whether they shall ever visit their constituents. It is so important that the voters should be given an opportunity to meet the candidates, before election, that I am sure it will be equally desirable for them to have a chance to meet the officers holders afterwards. Personally, I want the citizens of El Paso to feel that I am anxious to meet them now, since they have chosen me as their chief executive, and I will be when I am seeking their votes."

To Solicit Ideas of All

"But the main purpose of these meetings will be to give the citizens an opportunity to give their views on what they want in the way of local improvements and to explain some of the problems we are trying to solve, and to promote a spirit of cooperation between the citizens and their officials. I want to lay great stress on the fact that these meetings will be absolutely non-partisan. I want to meet the citizens, not the representatives of any political party, but as the mayor of all the people. I would like every voter to be present, regardless of whether he voted for me or not."

All Should Pull Together

"The advancement of the city's interests in any direction is the objective toward which all good citizens should strive, as such advancement inevitably reacts beneficially on the individual and it is on the basis of our mutual purpose along these lines, that I desire to meet the citizens. I am sure that if we have a series of conferences can fall to be of benefit, as we plan to make the meetings just as informal and sociable as possible. It will give the citizens a chance to present a chance to explain the needs peculiar to their own section and we are sure to receive valuable suggestions that would otherwise escape our attention."

To Tell Citizens Everything

"As everyone knows, the biggest obstacle to improvements is the cost, but I expect to find, as a result of these meetings, that there are many minor betterments which can be effected at comparatively slight expense and which will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of the people. Suggestions along these lines will be welcomed and every idea advanced will be given the most careful consideration. If improvements are suggested which it is impossible for the city to undertake because of lack of funds, that fact will be fully explained."

To Take Citizens Into Confidence

"We mean to take the citizens into our confidence and let them see the difficulties we are trying to overcome. I believe the average man to be reasonable and just and I am sure that our explanations will be received in the proper spirit. I expect these meetings to result in a better understanding of the city's needs and in a more intelligent view of the citizens, and at the same time, it will enable them to see just what we are up against."

NEGOTIATION OF THE NEW HAVEN

Government Attorney Opens
Address in Suit Against Railroad Officials.

New York, Oct. 12.—Jurors chosen to try William Rockefeller, Lewis Chase Ledyard, Edward D. Robb and eight other directors, or former directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, charged with conspiracy to monopolize interstate commerce under the Sherman law, took their seats in the federal court today to hear the opening address of L. Batta, attorney for the government.

Attorney's Opening Statement.
In his opening statement, Mr. Batta said that the jury would be asked to consider the methods by which the alleged unlawful acts of the New Haven were done, as well as the acts themselves. He declared he wanted to make it clear that there was no suggestion intended by the government that the component parties of the New Haven should be returned to their original status, as the combination of the parts were and necessarily unlawful.

The government and the law did not depreciate and undertake to punish those who had brought together and given good service without bringing about a situation where "the people of this New England district are at the mercy of a powerful combination."

2500 Miles Under Control

"The New Haven railroad," he continued, "which owned only 525 miles of track, succeeded in acquiring all its competitors until it controlled 2500 miles of line, and gained a position where every person engaged in business in New England, every enterprise, was under its power and control."

Steamship and trolley lines were similarly acquired, he said, and a complete monopoly of all transportation traffic, a monopoly that was unlawful and "designed to place an unlimited power in the hands of these conspirators."

Mellen Star Witness

How Charles S. Mellen, who is expected to be the government's star witness in the case, first came to go with the New Haven was described by the government attorney in reciting the history of the New Haven subsequent to the acquisition of the New York and New England. Mr. Mellen was then general manager of the New York and New England and had threatened to freight rate cuts against the New Haven.

There was at the time Mr. Mellen joined the New Haven a suit pending against the New England which the government attorney said, had been started by a Boston saloon keeper named Goldsmith, at the instance of Austin Corbin, a former president of the New England, to restrain a proposed course of rate cuts by which the New England wanted to raise funds.

Responsible for Receivership

The government would show, Mr. Batta said, that J. P. Morgan, William Rockefeller, C. P. Clark and Lucius Tuttle agreed to indemnify Austin Corbin for the consequences of their maintenance of the suit. The suit resulted, he asserted, in the New York and New England going into the hands of a receiver and the New Haven purchased a controlling interest in the stock.

JUDGE REFUSES CHARLTON DELAY

Court Declines to Grant
Postponement in Murder
Trial of American.

Come, Italy, Oct. 12.—Baron Sicca, presiding judge at the trial of Porter Charlton, rendered a decision today refusing counsel to a postponement of the trial, saying that he considered the presence of signor Canevaro, of Charlton's counsel, sufficient to protect the interests of the accused.

The court then interrogated Charlton. The prisoner spoke for about an hour, giving a complete account of his life from the time he met Mary Scott, whom he married, and of whose murder he is accused, up to the time the crime was committed.

Charlton was attacked with a fainting fit during the progress of the interrogation and was obliged to retire from the court room. When he returned, baron Sicca continued the inquiry. The public is being excluded from the court room because of the nature of the testimony.
